Simple Steps, Smart Savings – What's Next?

Thursday, June 7, 2012 - More than 45 public and investor-owned utilities utilize the Simple Steps, Smart Savings program to achieve cost-effective savings through the retail markdown of energy-efficient products. Currently, the promotion includes CFLs, fixtures and showerheads. But what about other products? Could this regional program provide utilities even more value by including additional products through retail channels? The short answer is yes, but BPA wants to prioritize and ensure that we are considering the “right” new opportunities. We need input from both participating and non-participating utilities to help drive our plans for the future... More

2012 Energy Efficiency Utility Summit –

Now that the Energy Efficiency Summit has come to an end for this year, we have time to review all of the attendee’s feedback and review your comments with the management team. Your feedback is vital to us shaping the summit for the next year and your ideas are invaluable to us... More

Interim Reference Deemed Measure List 2.1 -

BPA has updated the Interim Reference Deemed Measure List for utilities to use for recording their conservation measure activities. This updated list and the Deemed Measure Upload template are found in the Implementation Manual Document Library (Section 3 - General Requirements)... More

Flathead Electric and Snohomish PUD win the 2012 Award for Excellence in Energy Efficiency -

BPA is proud to announce that Snohomish PUD and Flathead Electric are co-recipients of the 2012 Award for Excellence in Energy Efficiency. We received a number of exceptional nominations for the 2012 Award for Excellence in Energy Efficiency. Each of the nominees truly demonstrated their excellence, and each highlighted the amazing efficiency work going on in the region. Given the quality of the nominations we received choosing a winner was extremely difficult, but in the end two of the nominees distinguished themselves from the rest. The judging panel could not meaningfully elevate one over the other, so BPA choose to honor Flathead and Snohomish as co-recipients.

Congratulations to Flathead Electric and Snohomish PUD for the exceptional work they have done!
