PORTLAND, Ore. – Bonneville Power Administration will be hosting the 10th Annual Regional High School Science Bowl. This year's event will be held at the University of Portland located at 5000 N. Willamette Blvd. on February 3, 2001.

The Regional Science Bowl is part of a national effort sponsored by the Department of Energy. The winning team will earn the right to attend the national competition in Washington DC in May, 2001. Sixty-four (64) high schools will be competing from Washington and Oregon. First through fourth place winners will receive scholarships from area colleges.

Matt Zaffino of KGW News will be this year's celebrity moderator.

Attached you will find the participating high schools and other information regarding the event. For additional information, photos, interview opportunities, please call Kyra Stewart at (206) 220-6769. There will be cell phone access available at (360)-606-9688 for the event starting at 6:30 a.m.
