Re: TIG/Grid West

As a director for Blachly Lane I attended the PPC meeting yesterday. I appreciate your sharing your views and attempting to develop a dialogue with the members of the Executive Committee.

As the discussion involved governance I was struck by the fact that the PPC Executive Committee has taken a firm position against Grid West but has not made any formal inquiry on that position to the entire PPC membership. If this is an example of how TIG would provide better governance than Grid West, it seems to be more about whom will play God than if someone should be allowed to play God.

Clearly we need a governance model that allows all the parties an equal voice.

Respectfully,

Mike Tayloe
