Columbia Market Reservation Point
Updated: 6/29/10

The Columbia Market (ColumbiaMKT) reservation point is a composite of the NWH and MIDCRemote points. ColumbiaMKT combines the substations identified in the Northwest Hub procedure, into one reservation point to be used for short-term reservation purposes.

1. The NWH and MIDCRemote reservation points remain separate from the ColumbiaMKT reservation point.

2. The Mid-C control areas (Chelan County PUD, Douglas County PUD, and Grant County PUD) are not part of this consolidated reservation point.

3. The Point-of-Receipt (POR)/Point-of-Delivery (POD) mapping process in the E-Tagging system will be used to enable Customers with short-term reservations to/from the ColumbiaMKT to use that reservation point to schedule transmission to/from either the NWH or MIDCRemote without requiring a redirect of transmission capacity.

4. There is no change to the scheduling practices for transmission service to/from the NWH or MIDCRemote reservation points.

5. Customers scheduling using reservations that reference the ColumbiaMKT reservation point for the NWH and MIDCRemote must follow the standard scheduling requirements and processes specified in Transmission Services business practices.
