

Brown Bag: Commercial Sector Program Design

When: May 18, 2016

Time: 12:00 p.m. – 1:00 p.m.

Commercial Sector Program Design Brown Bag:
May 18

Over the past 12 months, BPA has been working with utility customers, regional stakeholders, and industry partners to assess utility needs and develop our next generation commercial sector energy efficiency program offering. Last fall, BPA presented a strawman program concept and received constructive and positive feedback from a wide range of customers and stakeholders.

In this brown bag, we evolve from program concept to an operational program design. We will provide a summary of the proposed program design, including timing and scope, implementation delivery methods, costs, and energy savings delivered.

Note: This brown bag will be presented twice to ensure adequate opportunity to participate. The first brown bag will officially kick off a public comment period which will extend from May 18 through June 30. During the brown bag, we will cover how to officially submit public comments related to the proposed program design. Comments will be taken into account as BPA finalizes the program design. The second brownbag is tentatively scheduled for June 15th with more information coming soon.
