Reasonably Describe Records

Describe the specific record(s) you seek with sufficient detail that a knowledgeable official of the activity may locate the record with a reasonable amount of effort. Such detail should include: dates, titles, file designations, and offices to be searched.

Since most DOE records are not retained permanently, the more information you provide, the better the opportunity there is to determine if the records involved still exist and where. The FOIA clearly states that records must exist at the time the request is submitted.

Hello,

I am seeking a complete copy of all source code and design documentation for the Dynamic Debt Repayment System.

The design documentation consists of Visio diagrams and word documents that describe the operation and design of the system at all levels, including context, sequence diagrams, flow charts, etc. These files are stored in SharePoint or on a file share.

The source code consists of all solution files, project files, aspx web files javascript files, c# code files, database schema files and the necessary initialization script to make the database system functional prior to the import of debt for the first time, etc. These source files used to be stored in a subversion source code repository, but may have been migrated to TFS. I would like the most recent version of the code and documentation.

In short, I am looking to acquire everything required to build and install a functional version of the application a long with an initialized but otherwise blank database.

In order to help reduce the time and energy required to search for and locate the above files, you can contact (b)(6) organization (or that is where he used to be located). He is not aware of my request, but will know where all of the above files are located.

Thank you.
